

Allan Chan

Counsel

✉ Email  PDF Bio

V CARD

Allan specializes in the practice of international intellectual property law, with particular emphasis on cross-border IP matters between China and the United States. He has represented clients ranging from individuals and startups to large multinational companies seeking to assert or defend their intellectual property rights. Allan represents and counsels clients regarding the prosecution, litigation, licensing and monetizing of their patent and trademark assets.

Allan has extensive experience in patent and trademark prosecution before the United States Patent and Trademark Office, with particular proficiency in navigating complex USPTO procedures and overcoming challenging office actions. His technical background, which includes experience as a computer systems analyst at a major international banking institution, provides valuable insight when counseling clients on software and technology-related IP matters. Prior to joining Key Kesan Dallmann, PLLC, Allan served as in-house counsel for a technology company, where he managed their intellectual property portfolio.

Practice Areas

- Patent Law
- Trademark Law
- Copyright
- Civil Litigation
- Cross-Border IP Matters

Bar and Court Admissions

- New York State Courts
- U.S. Federal Courts (New York)
- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office

Education

- LL.M. Program (Coursework Completed), Intellectual Property Law, George Washington University Law School
- J.D., Touro Law School
- B.S., Engineering Chemistry, Stony Brook University

Professional Memberships

- Association of the Bar of the City of New York
- New York County Lawyers' Association